Scenic Byway strategic plan available

The North Dakota Scenic Byway Program recently completed a strategic plan to guide the program in its decision making over the next five years and to ensure the viability of the program. The plan was completed by the North Dakota Parks and Recreation Department (NDPRD) with Clearwater Communications.

The North Dakota Scenic Byway Program is administered through a cooperative effort between NDPRD and the North Dakota Department of Transportation (NDDOT). There are ten state scenic byways in North Dakota and two are nationally designated -- the Sheyenne River Valley National Scenic Byway and the Standing Rock National Native American Scenic Byway.
